

NANCY SLIWA

Nancy Sliwa

Nancy is an attorney who serves as the Director of Animal Protection in the Guardian Angels organization.

Nancy joined the Guardian Angels in 2017, and formed an Animal Protection Patrol. The patrol traps the feral cats and takes them to be spayed or neutered. They are released back to the colony where they help control the rat population. They say the rat population has virtually disappeared and the cats are not as loud or disruptive.

The Guardian Angel's group has been working with other cities and is hopeful that New York City's new budget plan for a multi-agency approach to rats will include a cat plan.

Sliwa is making a run for New York attorney general on an “all animal-rights” platform for the Reform Party of New York State.